During the early part of Lent, Geraldine had been occupied in gleaning from works lent her by the Rev. Dr. Wharton, and the Abate Zaccaria, all that could throw light and interest on the approaching solemn commemorations, and she was therefore now still better enabled to understand and appreciate those attendant ceremonies, which to the superficial observers must be tedious, and to the prejudiced Protestant, mere empty form and idle show. On the eve of the fifth Sunday in Lent, which is the fortnight before Easter, commenced the commemorative history, or mystical representation of our...
